Public Input—Paul Rogers, 32 Sheridan Street, resident since 1960—took a trip to the DPW today. Was told $125 to dispose of one chair. Ask the Council to revisit the rates—would take a long time to acquire a ton of garbage. Many of the citizens are older, furniture breaks. Asking $125 to get rid of a chair is crazy. Where will people leave these? In yards/street/curb, exorbitant, please consider re-visiting the issue. Lucjan Galecki, 19 Ogden Street, mattress and chairs, Kassela in Holyoke will take the stuff for $25-$30. Liz Botelho, DPW Superintendent, clarify the DPW does not charge this. This $125 is what republic charges, you are charged a minimum at republic. There is information on the DPW page, take mattresses and TV's at the drop off. Not permitted as a drop center, private waste companies set those fees.
